MRI RELOCATION
VA101-14-R-0008

FRI No.	Question	Answer
1	Note 11-drawing GI007. They survey should be performed by the owner prior to the bid, or a change order issued if corrective work needs to be done.	Contractor should include in the bid, continuation of wall (metal stud and GWB each side) from ceiling to slab.
2	Drawing IN-106. Please assign the correct spec. sections to the material listed.	Spec sections have been updated.
3	The bid date is Easter Monday, a holiday for many. Monday is a bad day for a bid opening in any case. Please move the date to 4/25, or beyond.	Proposal due date will be extended to April 25, 2014.
4	Spec. section 102600-Wall and Door Protection. There is no reference to this section in the Finish Key. Which product is this?	See updated DWG IN101
5	Elevation C1/AE206-What does WP-1 stand for?	Wall Protection, IN106 calls out in keynote I3 to provide SSF-2 from floor to 36"AFF. This is the wall protection that is referenced in the elevation, it should be SSF-
6	Are the sliding doors a proprietary item to be supplied by Lane office- Dirtt Environmental Solutions as on other floors, or is this spec. 081473 generic and open to substitutions?	Sliding doors to meet the requirements of the specification
7	Spec. section 055000 2.4B5 is calling for a floor to floor structural steel tube or channel to mount the grab bars on. Please provide a detail.	3"x3" steel tube, thickness to accommodate loading of grab bar, base plate to be expansion bolted to slab. Tube and base plate to remain within construction of wall
8	Spec. section 055000 1.1B1-what do 12, 14A, 14C stand for?	1.1 B.1.: (12, 14A, 14C) are in VA master spec and refer to design guide items, meaning different kinds of wall and ceiling mounted supports
9	The Phillips drawings are unreadable when trying to save them. Please advise	The Phillips drawings are included within the combined pdf so they should save with the other disciplines.

Additional qusetions submitted are still being reviewed and answers will be posted as soon as they are available.