In accordance with Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR) 11.105(a)(1), the particular brand name, product, or feature is essential to the Government's requirements, and market research indicates other companies' similar products, or products lacking the particular feature, do not meet, or cannot be modified to meet, the agency's needs.

Surgical Services at the Cheyenne VAMC is requesting volar distal radius, small frag and clavicle tray instruments and implants be purchased. The volar distal radius, small frag and clavicle tray sets with instruments and implants will be direct replicas and augmentations to the hospitals current instruments and implants available on station. Additional volar distal radius, small frag and clavicle trays will facilitate more availability for scheduling critical surgical cases as well as prevent delays through sterile processing.

Market Research was conducted and shows that similar instruments can be found through open market and scheduled purchase. However, the specific instruments being requested are direct replacements and augmentation components to existing instrument sets currently being used by the surgical team at the Cheyenne VA Medical Center.
